

ABSTRACT

Source files are added in advance with data specification information necessary for conversion of the source files into a calibrating file, the source files are converted into a calibrating file, and calibration is performed based on the post-converted calibrating file.

0955031 094901
106760 1055660